

Got Fruit?

The Urban Farmers, a local non-profit organization, will harvest your fruit, leave what you want, and donate the rest to the needy. It's that simple

We are lucky. We live in a place where fruit trees grow readily, yet, there is a record number of Americans that can't get enough food to eat.

If you'd like to donate a portion of your harvest to the needy, contact The Urban Farmers and their volunteers will harvest your fruit and deliver it to a hunger relief agency such as the food bank, Loaves and Fishes or Monument Crisis Center and give you a receipt for your tax purposes.

To learn more, please visit The Urban Farmers or call (925) 297-5525

www.theurbanfarmers.org